

On this page, and others within this Web site, you are going to read about trading systems and their performance. It's important that you understand that all results reported on these pages must be treated as hypothetical results.

Hypothetical performance results have many inherent limitations, some of which are described below. No representation is being made that any account will or is likely to achieve profits or losses similar to those shown. In fact, there are frequently sharp differences between hypothetical performance results and the actual results subsequently achieved by any particular trading program.

One of the limitations of hypothetical performance results is that they are generally prepared with the benefit of hindsight. In addition, hypothetical trading does not involve financial risk, and no hypothetical trading record can completely account for the impact of financial risk in actual trading. For example, the ability to withstand losses or to adhere to a particular trading program in spite of trading losses are material points which can also adversely affect actual trading results. There are numerous other factors related to the markets in general or to the implementation of any specific trading program, which cannot be fully accounted for in the preparation of hypothetical performance results and all of which can adversely affect actual trading results.

The risk of loss trading futures contracts can be substantial. You should carefully consider whether such trading is suitable for you. No representation is being made that any account will or is likely to achieve profits or losses. Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future performance.

iS S 1

| MONTH | TRADES | TOTAL |
|--------------|---------------|--------------|
| June         | 14/15         | 5 points     |
| May          | 9/9           | 4.5 points   |
| April        | 10/11         | 3 points     |
| March        | 11/11         | 5.5 points   |
| February     | 12/12         | 6 points     |
| January      | 21/22         | 8.5 points   |
| December     | 19/19         | 9.5 points   |

The risk of loss trading futures contracts can be substantial. You should carefully consider whether such trading is suitable for you. No representation is being made that any account will or is likely to achieve profits or losses. Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future performance.